LOG FOREWORD

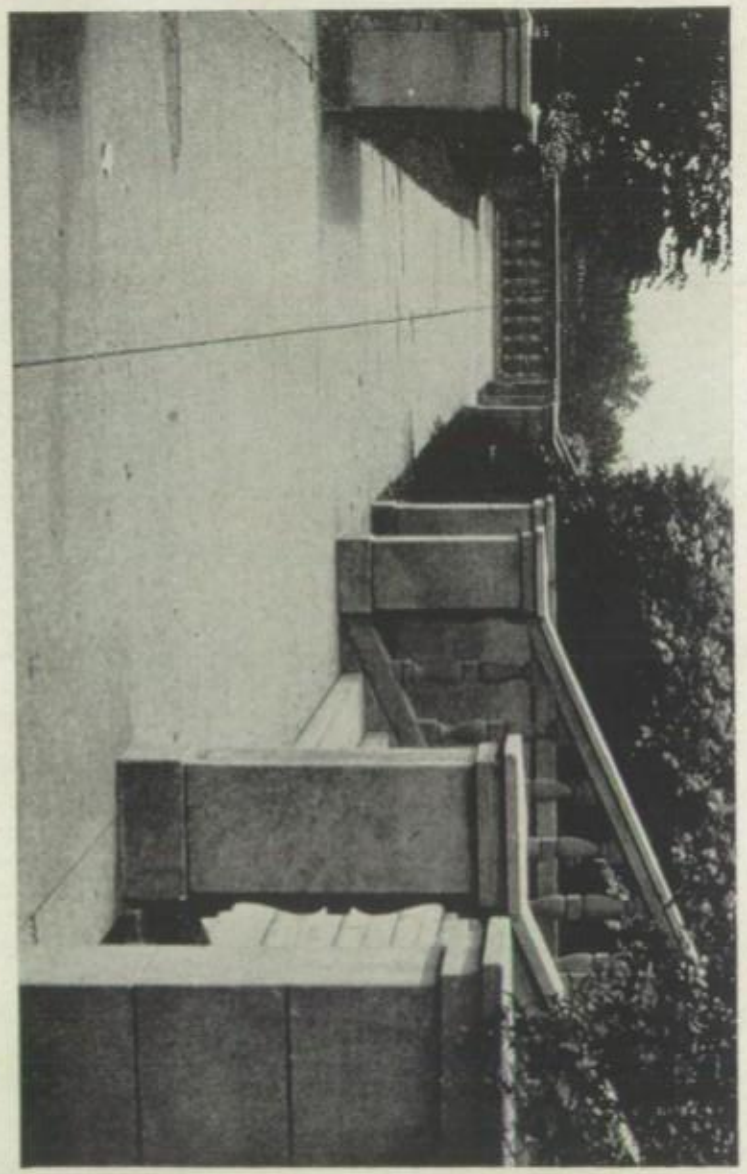
We have now come back into harbor after a three-year voyage of adventure and discovery on our good ship, Central. We have been well directed by our pilots, the faculty. We recognize the fact that much has been learned through the regular courses of study as well as in the extra-curricular activities and regret that the log cannot more fully portray the educational benefits derived from the voyage. We have taken soundings in many of the clubs, and signals from the publications. The athletics have been stoking the fires to keep us driving forward. Along the way we have seen many interesting and amusing sights through the spyglasses. In short, we have made the 1936 Centralian a log book in which we have kept a pictorial record of our voyage.

DEDICATED TO OUR UNDER-OFFICER, WESTON W. MITCHELL

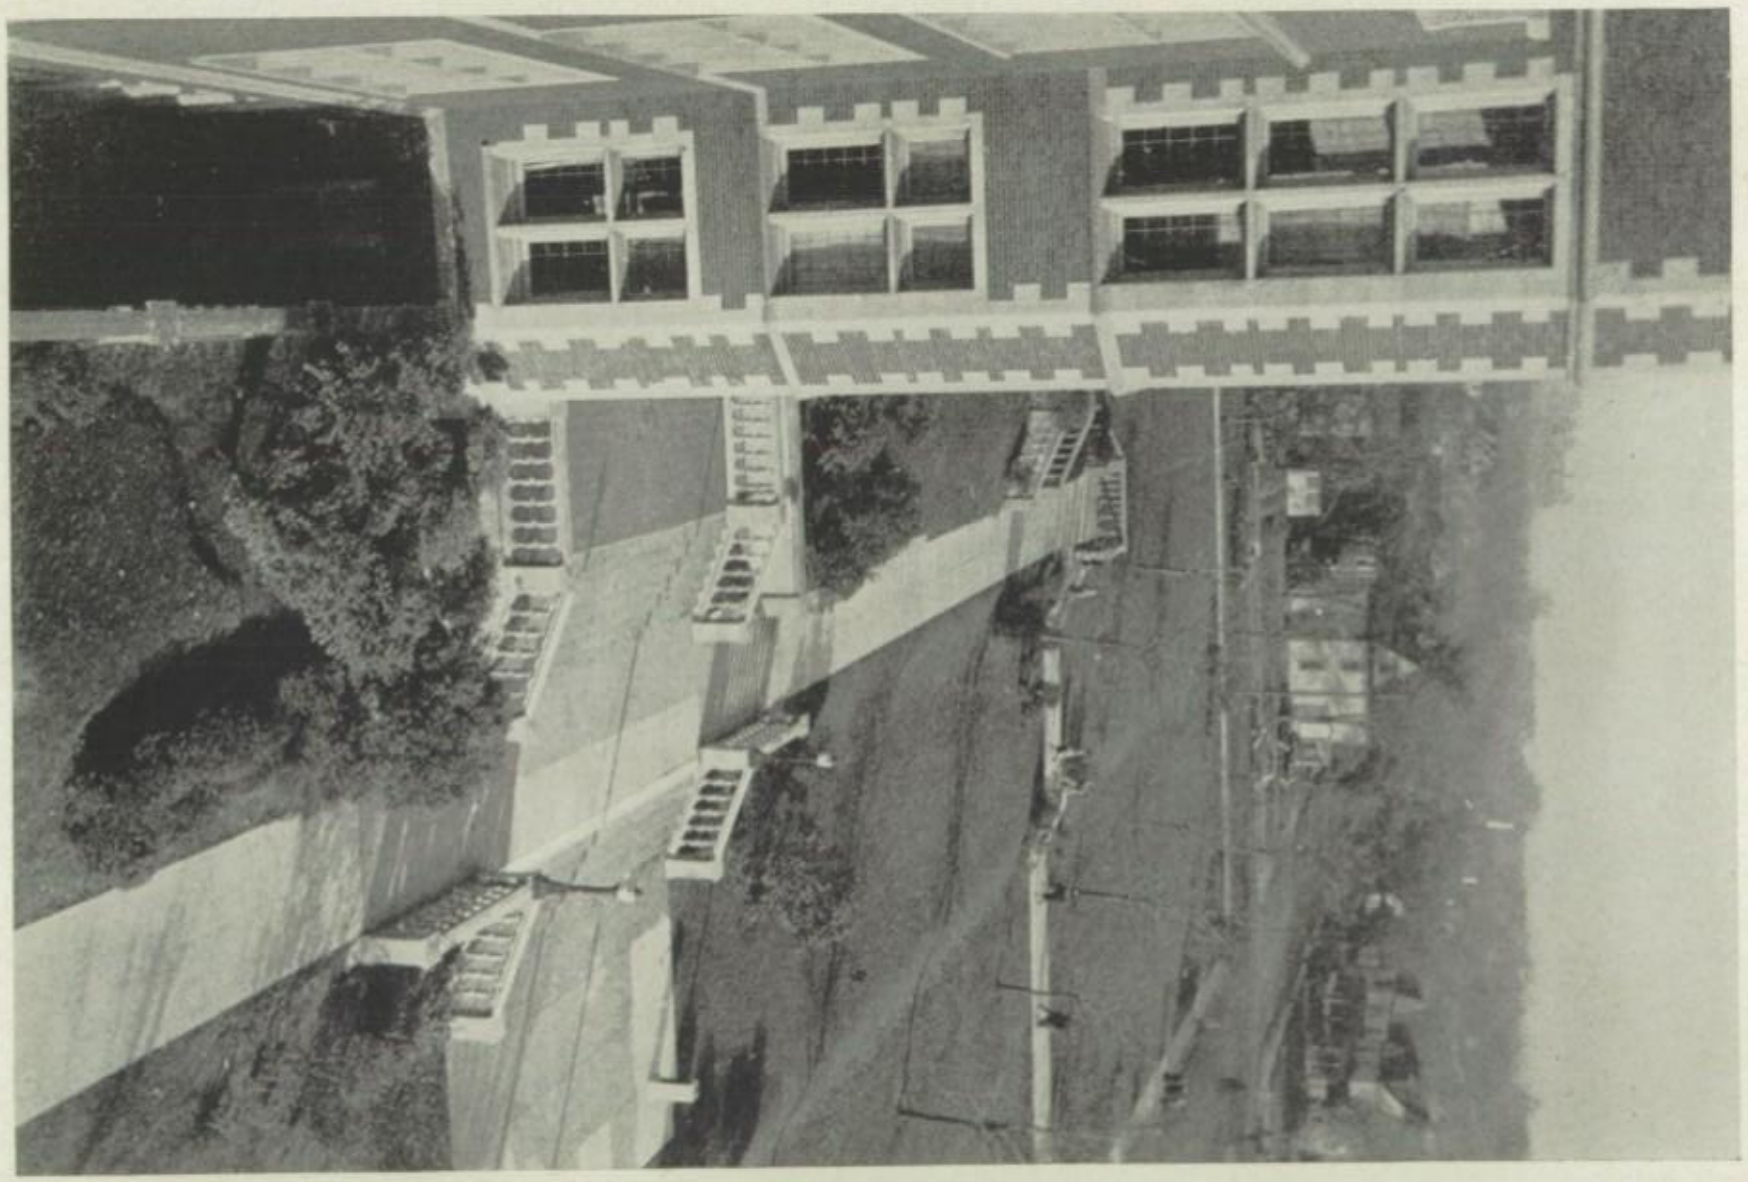
School spirit keeps the sails of our ship, Central, full and drawing; its fires put on steam to drive us forward to greater achievement; it has made Central the outstanding school it is today. To one who has had a great part in developing this spirit through his enthusiastic leadership and counsel, Weston W. Mitchell, industrial teacher and athletic coach at Central for the past eighteen years, we gratefully dedicate this book, the 1936 Centralian.

We are unable to express in nautical terms our sincere feeling of high esteem for this ship's officer on the voyage so we will come to a snappy salute, clicking our heels together and flicking the brims of our sailor hats with the tips of our fingers as we shout —"Aye, Aye, Sir!"

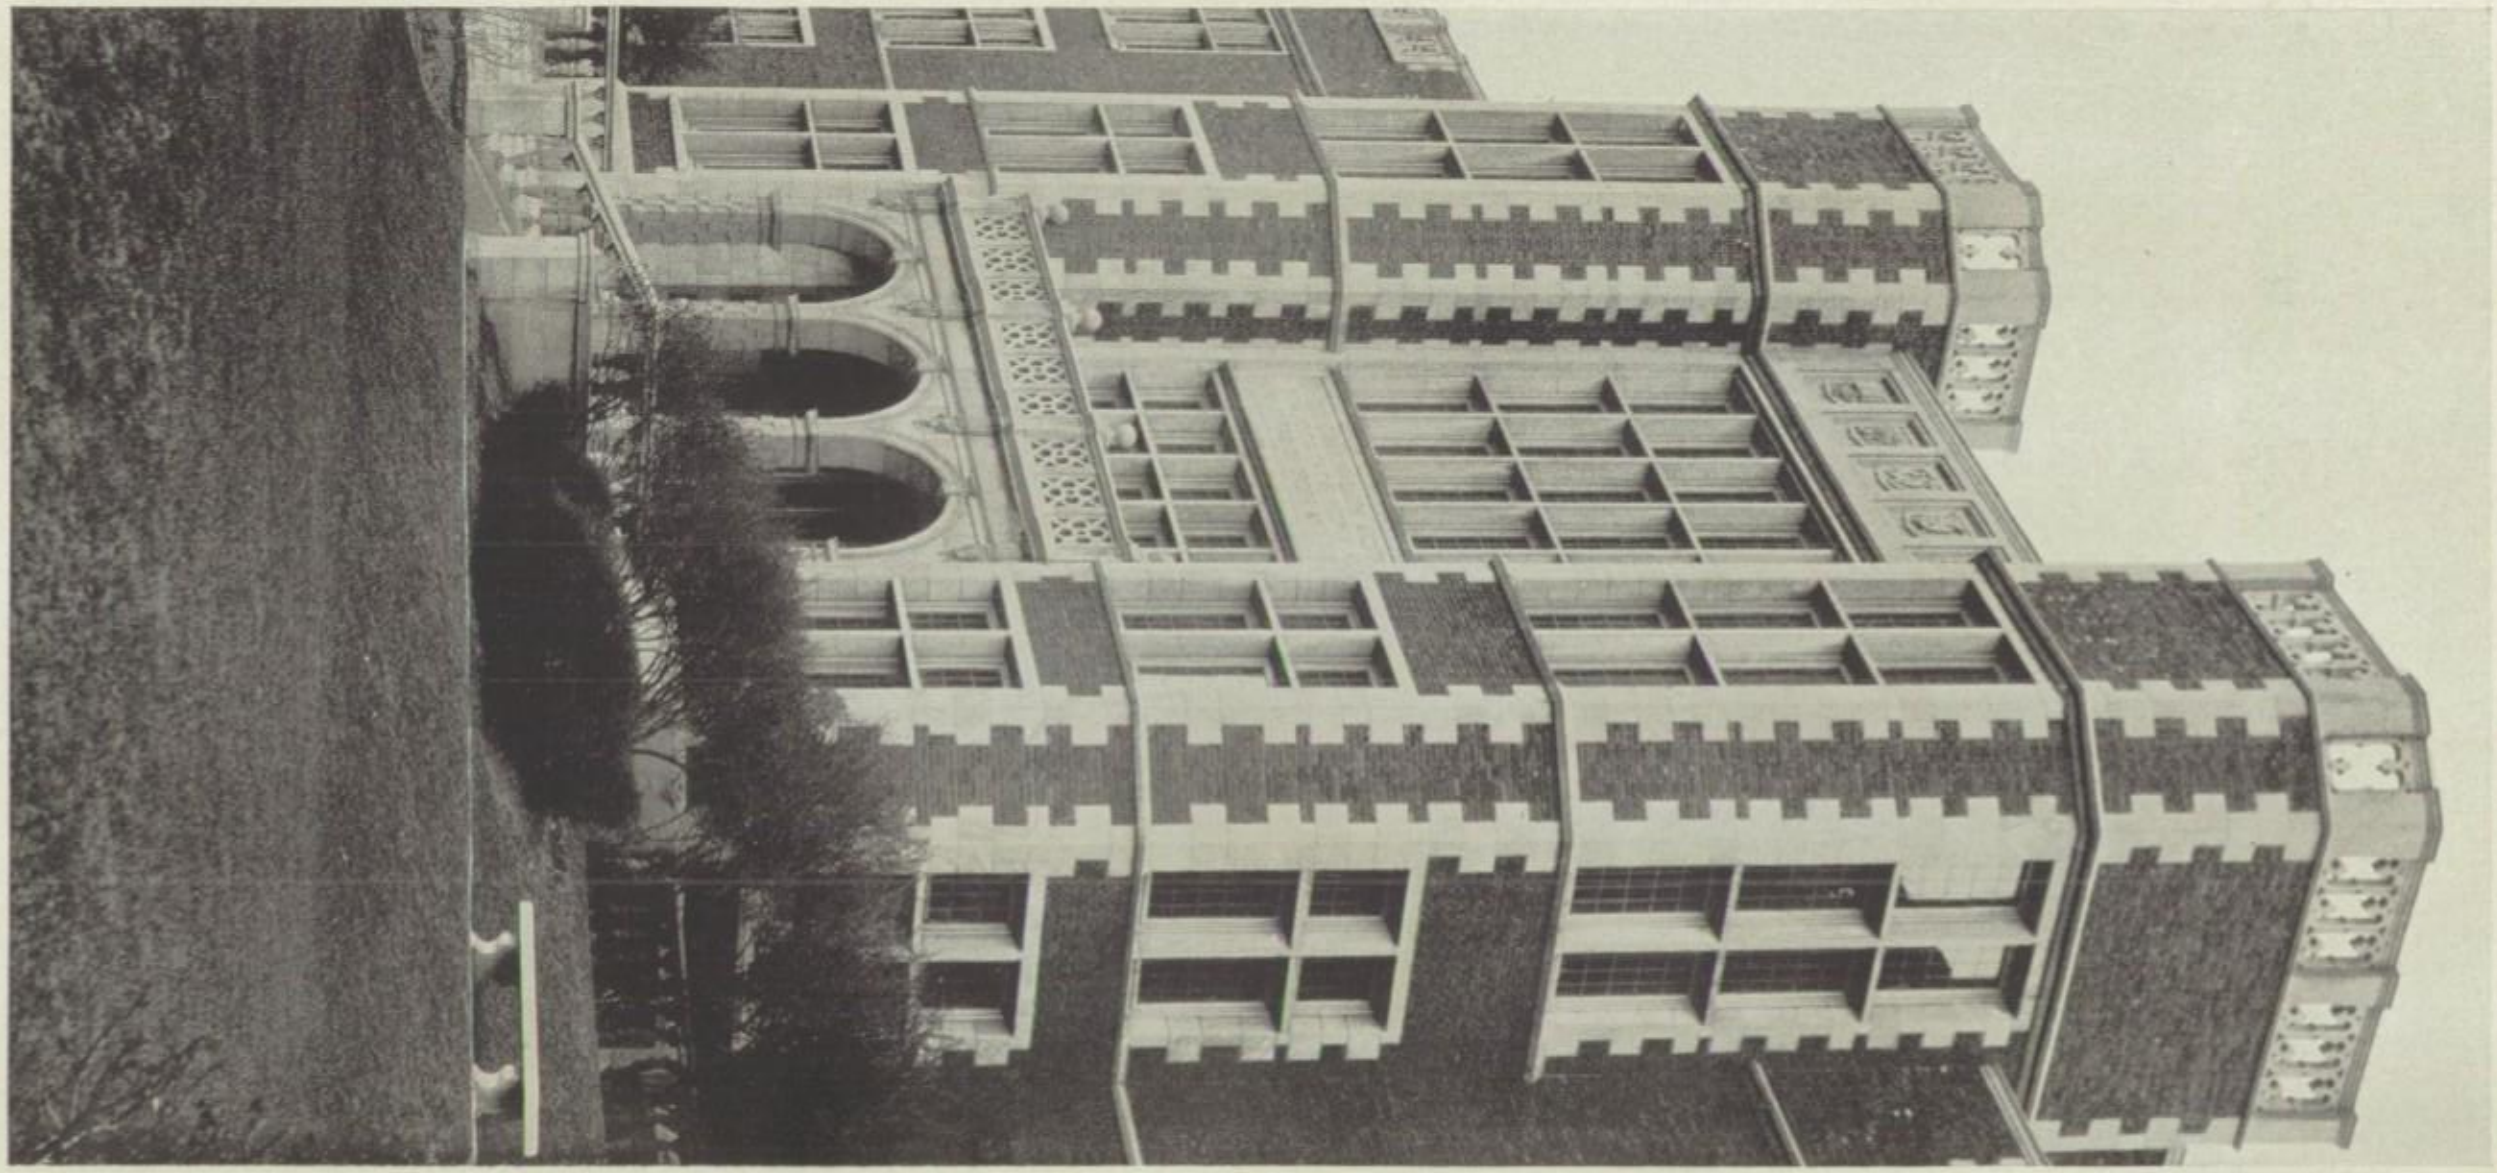
GANGWAY



THE VIEW FROM THE CROW'S NEST



THE TOWERING PROW OF OUR SHIP CENTRAL



OUR FIRST MATE, ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL ANNA BELLE THOMAS

To the Graduates of 1936:

For three years you have sailed on the good ship, Central High. The Captain, Officers and Pilots have tried to help you develop the characteristics of good citizens. We hope you have learned to appreciate the value of honesty, industry, and co-operation. Above all, we hope you have learned to be independent thinkers. The clouds ahead are dark, the waters troubled. As you disembark and take over the management of your own ships, may you be given wisdom and strength to steer them through to calmer seas of social security and more permanent world peace.

Your First Mate,

Anna Belle Thomas.

OUR EFFICIENT CAPTAIN, PRINCIPAL CALVIN W. JARVIS

To Members of 1936 Graduating Classes:

I have before me nine issues of the Centralian. This 1936 issue completes the record of the ten years of my principalship. I turn the pages of these chronicles of school life at Central and greet the faces of 5,569 graduates. For many of these, opportunity has already opened hopeful vistas of activity in the world's work; for many others disappointment still darkens the horizon of youthful ambition.

As I contemplate the yesterdays I have a feeling of regret that the school may not have rendered the fullest possible service to you, but I am cheered by the hope that your courage, sense of justice, and buoyant confidence will make you instrumental in assisting to bring forth a better social order.

Calvin W. Jarvis.

IN MEMORIAM TO OUR BELOVED TEACHER, FLORENCE FISH

To have known Florence Fish well was a rare privilege. She was an outstanding teacher because she was an outstanding citizen. With a mind splendidly trained in the classics and a spirit deeply appreciative of the cultural enrichment which study of the past affords she combined an intense interest in the present day problems of education, economics, and government. Her keen analytical mind delighted in problems and, while tradition and past methods interested her, it was her espousal and initiation of the new and untried that was most characteristic of her. Intellectually she was always a pathfinder.

To her students she gave herself without stint, developing in them the power of clear thinking and sustained effort, the love of language and "the golden phrase" and that breadth of mental horizon which made her own life so full. May her spirit live on in the lives of those she taught!

In scoring for the National Honor Society an "A" counts as 3, a "B" as 2, a "C" as 1, and "D" or "Fail" as 0. All the marks received in high school are averaged for this rating. All students who have maintained an average of 2.3 or more automatically become members of the National Honor Society. Since 15 per cent of the class is eligible for membership, those having a rating of slightly less than 2.3 are elected to the society by the faculty. In these cases character, leadership, and service to the class are also taken into consideration.

The class cabinet is the most important factor in determining the activities and the policies of the graduating class. The cabinet is composed of the four class officers and the chairmen of the class committees with the class president as the presiding officer. The first undertaking of the class was that of the annual alumni dance which was held November 8 after the homecoming game with Roosevelt. The slogan adopted for the day was "Tree the Teddies." The class activities, such as the play, the party, and class day, were made very successful through the co-operation of the class with the cabinet. The class play, "Once in a Lifetime," presented December 13, and class day, held January 21, were especially successful and became the outstanding events of the semester. The four class officers, Lowell Walker, president; Dorothy St. John, vice-president; Alice Walgren, secretary; Fred Worthington, treasurer; and Rosemary Martin, social chairman; Donald Sundt, memorial chairman; Dorothy St. John, class day chairman; Betty Ashenden, class play chairman; Vernon Swedberg, program chairman; Florence Collins, flower chairman; George Johnson, boys' dress chairman; and Janet Moseley, girls' dress chairman, were the members of the class cabinet. Miss Nutter, Miss Nickerson, and Mr. Rohde were the advisers of the January class. Commencement exercises were held January 23 with Mary Elizabeth Owen as valedictorian and Andrine Olson as salutatorian. The twenty-one members of the honor roll were awarded the Old English "C," the honor emblem, by the Principal, C. W. Jarvis.

JUNE CLASS CABINET

After the formal organization of the class in January, the class elected Edwin Cronk, president; Elaine Murphy, vice-president; Evangeline Sageng, secretary; and Rodney Loft, treasurer. Soon after the election, the class committees were appointed by the class officers and the advisers. The second annual College Day was the first undertaking of the June class. Representatives from thirty-two colleges spent the morning with the seniors in discussing their future educational problems. One of the important duties of the class cabinet was deciding the nominations for the ten Representative Centralites for the Centralian. The plans for the "A" senior party, held April 17, were made by the class day committee with Eileen McBride and Elaine Murphy as chairmen. It became one of the outstanding social events of the semester. The class play, "Ladies of the Jury," presented May 22, was coached by Miss Ziemer. The June class cabinet was composed of the four class officers, Ed Cronk, Elaine Murphy, Evangeline Sageng, and Rodney Loft; John Castle, memorial chairman; Georg Lykken, publicity chairman; Elizabeth Conrad, flower chairman; Eileen McBride, class day chairman; Jeanne Ohlin, girls' dress chairman; James Mankey, boys' dress chairman; Henry Quist, picture chairman; Douglas DuLac, social chairman; Lewis Kravetz, program chairman; Dolly Staab, service chairman; Virginia Beckstrom, class play chairman; and Grant Richards, floor chairman. Mr. Rohde, Miss Lobdell, Miss Bell, and Miss Leahy were the advisers of the June graduating class.

FROM THE CENTRALIAN ASSEMBLY SKIT

Written by
BETTY LOU SCHOENING

Who's that knocking at my door—
Who's that knocking at my door—
Who's that knocking at my door?
Cried our new Centralian.

It's only me, as you can see,
Said Mister Mitchell, the teacher.
I'm all dressed up like a Christmas tree,
Said Mister Mitchell, the teacher.
I'll coach these teams until I croak,
I'll shout and groan and stamp and choke—
But I can't sing a single note!
Said Mister Mitchell, the teacher.

Are you young and handsome, sir—
Are you young and handsome, sir—
Are you young and handsome, sir?
Cried our new Centralian.

I'm big and strong and brave and tough,
Said Mister Mitchell, the teacher.
I never hear you yell enough,
Said Mister Mitchell, the teacher.
I've never sailed the seas, by gum,
With a yo ho ho and a bottle of rum,
But I'll see you soon upon page one,
Said Mister Mitchell, the teacher.

Who's that knocking at my door—
Who's that knocking at my door—
Who's that knocking at my door?
Cried our new Centralian.

You'd never guess, so we'd better tell!
Said the Seniors of Central High School.
We think our class is pretty swell,
Said the Seniors of Central High School.
Our smiles are wide, our cheers are loud—
We've always been a peppy crowd,
And of our school we're very proud,
Said the Seniors of Central High School.

When will I see you again—
When will I see you again—
When will I see you again?
Cried our new Centralian.

You'll see us all around the halls,
Said the Seniors of Central High School.
We'll shake the floors and rock the walls—
Said the Seniors of Central High School.
But from your pages, neat and fine,
Soon every Senior's face will shine—
A smiling, carefree, silent line—
Said the Seniors of Central High School.

Two operas were given by the Glee Club this year. They were Alfred Cellier's charming English opera, "Dorothy," that was presented in November, and Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore," given in March. Both of the casts for these were pronounced a great success by the large audiences that attended the performances. The Glee Club has more than ever proved how vitally it is connected with the school program each year. Each attempt is an accomplishment for the club. The student body's support was great and the attendance proved the appreciation of each opera. Mr. Sydney Morse directed and staged all the performances. Last year was his twenty-third in this capacity.

The Glee Club with a membership of eighty-eight was more than successful this year. The baccalaureate services for both the January and June graduating classes were sponsored by it. During November it accepted an invitation of the American Legion, and sang over the radio station WTCN. The Glee Club gives a splendid opportunity for boys and girls who have voices and wish training. Everyone who takes it as a subject is well paid. They have opportunities to take part in presentations given by the group, and also have experience that will help them all their lives. Music has increased in popularity and the Glee Club now maintains a high position in the extra curricular activities of Central High School.

The lovely opera, "Dorothy," by Alfred Cellier, was presented by the Glee Club members in the fall term. Playing leading roles were Audrey Shorbund as Dorothy; Vernon Swedberg, Geoffrey Wilder; Adrian Bessessen, Harry Sherwood; and Marguerite Lundquist as Lydia. Others also playing important roles were John Tuppitt, played by George Copeland; Phyliss Tuppitt, taken by Charlotte Zeglin; Squire Bantam, portrayed by Charles Brearley; Mrs. Privett, by Dorothy Sandahl; Lady Betty, by Gerda Hoijrup; the Parson, played by Herbert Crocker; Lurcher, portrayed by Earle Sigafoos, and Tom Gross, played the first night by Orrin Pearson, the second night by Robert Anderson. The supporting chorus was composed of eighty students. The humor was unique and light, the love scenes beautiful, and the singing superb. The Glee Club, as always, proved its good taste and fine voice training.

The Glee Club and orchestra combined in making Central High School proud of the success of the performance, "H.M.S. Pinafore," given March 27. The cast included 85 persons in colorful costumes. The leading roles were taken by Earl Sigafoos as Dick Deadeye; George Copeland as Sir Joseph Porter; Gail Brancel, in the feminine lead; Charlotte Zeglin as Little Buttercup; Derwin Jacobson and Arthur Woodgate. Others playing their parts exceptionally well were Marguerite Lundquist, Bill Meade, Herbert Crocker and Jack Brickley. This opera is the third in rating of the operas by Gilbert and Sullivan. The melodies in "Pinafore" had a catchy and pleasing quality. The direction was under the able baton of Mr. Sydney H. Morse. There were many exciting moments, humorous episodes, and beautiful scenes. Another hit has been scored for Central High School on the stage.

"Once in a Lifetime," the January class play, was presented on December 13, 1935. It was a most successful satirical comedy. The audience was highly amused and entertained by the continued display of comedy put before them. The story of the play is of three down-and-out troupers who start out for Hollywood to try their hand in the newly-invented talkies. As a result of a series of consistent blunders, the most stupid of the three finds himself carried to fame and fortune. The characters of the play were well adapted to the students chosen to portray them. They gave the scenes sincerely, bringing out the humorous situations, and also the serious moments. The director of the production was Miss Grosz.

The satirical comedy, "Once in a Lifetime," written by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, is almost impossible to describe in all its hilarious humor. Each scene was more amusing than the one before. The play was fast moving and brought laugh after laugh from the appreciative audience of students and visitors. Two of the most uproariously funny scenes were the one we shall call the Pullman episode and that never-to-be-forgotten scene in the waiting room where the playwright makes frantic and fruitless efforts to call attention to his presence. With the fine supporting cast the production was altogether successful.

The cast for "Once in a Lifetime" contained sixty-five parts. Those which were especially well portrayed were acted by James Hennessy, Betty Ashenden, Bradley Skeels, and Marguerite Jones. Others playing exceptionally well were Audrey Shorbund, Kenneth Gudgell, Bob Bouchier, and Orin Pearson. Others in the cast were Sylvester Carter, Anna Louise Henneman, Anna Marian Thompson, Katherine Nelson, Barbara Mallory, Rosemary Martin, Annette LaBerge, Vernon Swedberg, Anne Lee, Harold Kloster, Lowell Walker, Ben Shank, Carl Witham, Warren Weeks, Ruth Yurgae, Gerda Hojrup, George Kenney, Ross Sandberg, Hunter Como, Harry Shaw, Ed Tupper, Peter Psyhoyias, Loren Monseth, John Engquist, Dorothy Ahern, Don Hughes, Don Stundt, Betty Sparks, Walter Coffman, Walter Clausen, Peter Brown, Max Christen, Ellsworth Johnson, Thelma Garvue, Robert Roster, Alton Tekse, Roger Swanson, and Mary Jane Furstnow.

"Ladies of the Jury," by Fred Ballard, was chosen as the June graduating class play. The director was Miss Eugenia Ziemer, one of our Physical Education teachers. You can never tell who may be on a jury, or what odd types of character will be shown. The audience watching this play could certainly prove this statement. The cast was well chosen, and the play as fine a production as has ever been presented by a senior class. The evening was altogether delightful. This comedy in three acts moved along filled with action true to human nature. It is the brightest comedy yet written about a trial. The play gave a chance for good character leads, and the students chosen for the honor played their parts to the great delight of the audience.

The orchestra is composed of 52 members, with a variety of instruments. There are 14 that play the first violin, 10 playing the second violin, five viola players, four with 'cellos, three bassels, one oboe, four flute players, two playing the clarinets, three first trumpets, three second trumpets, two trombones and one tympani. This group sponsored the baccalaureate and commencement services for both the January and June graduating classes. They also played at the assemblies during the year. The operas, "Dorothy" and "H.M.S. Pinafore," with the orchestra accompaniment were pronounced great successes. The organization played for the Lion's Club on two occasions. At the invitation of the American Legion, they played over WTCN. The orchestra is a student activity that Central High considers indispensable.

Under the direction of its leader, Mr. Wohlford, the band has gained recognition in every way this last year. For the first time in recent history, Central has had a marching band. The drum major was John Engquist, of the January graduating class. The band, in new uniforms, played at all the home football games, gave a pep assembly, and played at a basketball game, increasing every time the enthusiasm of the spectators. During the month of May the band gave a musical concert. Mr. Wohlford's wish for a greater number of members has been successful. There are now fifty-eight members in the band. He feels exceptionally proud of the members and their ability.

On Friday the 13th, completely disregarding superstition, the students, faculty, and alumni of Central, for the first time in four years, sponsored a Comedy Concert. The show opened with the theme song, "Sleep," played by Jimmie Pidgeon's orchestra. Lewis Kravetz, the master of ceremonies, in a pleasant manner presented and introduced the numbers. The high point of the entertainment was the faculty skit, in which Miss Constance Turner was the heroine, Mr. Rodgers, the hero, and Miss Marie McGrath, the reader. It was a burlesque of the poem "The Highwayman." Others taking part were Mr. Pelto, Mr. Zittleman, and Mr. Pemberton. Another hit was the Mimes and Mummers' melodrama, "He Ain't Done Right by Nell." Virginia Beckstrom as little Nell, Christ Andrews as the villain, and Michael Culhane as the hero, proved well their acting abilities. Janet Moseley, Elaine Murphy, Myra Jean Hokanson, and William Finnigan were also excellent in their parts.

The novel Skylite club skit of the Comedy Concert was considered well done. Dolly Staab, as the old-fashioned school teacher, summoned the group of masked dream artists to school where they made a drawing of the performers. Many unusual individual acts were worthy of mention. Well remembered were Douglas DuLac, as the accomplished magician, Gladys Hubner, and her harp, Lois Abrams, as Mae West, dancing by the Ladd sisters, Gavic and Lonson, Rosemary Igoe, Gail Brancel, a dance team from the Girls' Club, a girls' trio, William Finnegan and Warren Hultgren as the little Swedish minister. The long list of performers presented a three-hour program that was more than just a fine performance. It was one of the best arrays of talent that Central High School has ever had on its stage. The student body supported the evening's entertainment with a large and appreciative audience. The success of this year's concert should completely reinstate the Comedy Concert as a regular feature of the school year.

The Student Council is the student governing body of the school. It meets with Mr. Jarvis every Wednesday in the Trophy Room to discuss problems relevant to the welfare of the school and to plot the course of future student activities. The Student Council consists of the four "A" senior class officers, two other "A" seniors, two members of the "B" senior class, the editor-in-chief of the News, and the presidents or chairmen of the Hi-Y Club, the Girls' Club, the "C" Club, the G.A.A. Board, the C.C.C. Cabinet and the Girl Reserves, thus making a total of fifteen members. Don Sundt was president during the fall term, while Rosemary Martin and Katherine Nelson were vice-president and secretary respectively.

John Castle was the president of the Student Council for the spring term, while Ethel Kerns was vice-president and Dolly Staab, secretary. The membership in the spring Council was fourteen instead of the usual fifteen, since one seat was eliminated by the election of Edwin Cronk, who had been the "B" senior representative, to the presidency of the "A" senior class. Upon Mr. Jarvis' suggestion the Council discussed the time preferred by the student body for basketball games next season, and it was decided that a return to Friday afternoon and evening games would be acceptable to the majority of the school. The second meeting of the term, at which Mr. Jarvis' birthday was celebrated, was probably the meeting most enjoyed by the members of the Council.

The C.C.C. Cabinet is composed of representatives of all the classes who meet with Edward Kreuger, the C.C.C. faculty adviser, between lunch periods every second Wednesday in the Trophy Room to receive and comment on floor managers' reports, to consider student attitudes, to inquire into the treatment of school property, and to discuss order and traffic in the halls and lunchroom.

The officers of the fall cabinet were Don Sundt, president; Elaine Murphy, secretary; and Richard Stone, treasurer. Since nominations for membership to the cabinet are made by the advisory groups and since the nominees themselves carry out the actual election, the cabinet is composed of students who are both familiar with the opinions of their fellows and aware of the interests of other school organizations.

During the spring term George Schwert was president of the cabinet, Elaine Murphy retained the position of secretary for a second term, and Jeanne Ohlin was treasurer.

The meaning of the abbreviation "C.C.C." is indicated by the words "Courtesy, Consideration, and Cleanliness," and it is this meaning which the cabinet tries to instill into the student body through the monitors. Practically the only problem of any consequence with which the cabinet was confronted was that concerning the attitude of the students in the lunchroom. Through the coöperation of the Student Council, progress was made toward remedying this situation and alleviating irritation on this point by displaying posters and signs suggested by the Student Council and C.C.C. Cabinet and designed and executed by the art department.

The Blue Triangle is a branch of the Girl Reserves made up of junior members of the Y.W.C.A. It was organized primarily to develop in the girls the highest and finest ideals toward better living. Meetings are held every first and third Monday. Any "A" junior or senior girl is eligible for membership. During the semester the Blue Triangle had joint parties with the Hi-Y. A recognition service for all members of the club was held at the beginning of the semester at the Y.W.C.A. A membership party was also given after the membership drive. The officers of the fall semester included Kathryn Nelson as president; Alice Walgren, vice-president; Dorothy St. John, secretary; Betty Sparks, treasurer, and Jane Boener, inter-club council member.

The cabinet of the Blue Triangle has the responsibility of planning all the activities of the semester. The cabinet consists of eleven members. Members of the spring cabinet are Betty Gislason, Eileen McBride, Jane Anderson, Annabell Lee, Virginia Beckstrom, Winnifred Barker, Elaine Murphy, Alice Jacobi, Evangeline Sageng, Betty Brown, and Margaret Ordahl. A joint meeting with the Hi-Y, a membership party, and a recognition service at the Y.W.C.A. were the outstanding events of the spring semester. During the Lenten season services were held each Wednesday morning through the sponsorship of the Blue Triangle and the Hi-Y. The girls elected for leadership for the spring semester were Elaine Murphy, president; Alice Jacobi, vice-president; Evangeline Sageng, secretary; Betty Brown, treasurer, and Margaret Ordahl, inter-club council member.

The Silver Triangle, a branch of the Y.W.C.A., is comprised of girls from the sophomore and "B" junior groups. The Girl Reserves divided into two clubs, the Blue and Silver Triangles, in January, 1933. The purpose of this club is to provide socialized activities for the development of Christian character and the sense of responsibility. During the year the Silver Triangle has contributed to the Ida V. Probett fund, Christmas carol singing, and social service. The officers for the fall term were Jean Courtney, president; Anabelle Lee, vice-president; Jayne Anderson, secretary; Elinor Sandberg, treasurer. Jean Courtney, Judith Ornes, Margaret Narum, and Genevieve Dahl were elected president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively for the spring term. Miss Turner and Mrs. Smith are the faculty advisers.

The board of bank directors, selected on the merits of their work as cashiers, is composed of two seniors, two juniors, two "A" sophomores, and two members-at-large. The board of directors for the fall semester consisted of Donald Sundt, Edith Holzer, Richard Anderson, Betty Fagerstrom, William Jenkins, Katherine Olson, Kenneth Burns, and Donna Mae Olson. For the fall semester Donald Sundt was president; Katherine Olson, vice-president; and William Jenkins, secretary. Succeeding Donald Sundt and Richard Anderson, "A" seniors, were Thomas Dailey and Ted Pehrson. William Jenkins was selected as president during the spring semester; Katherine Olson, vice-president; and Donna Mae Olson, secretary. Meetings are conducted twice a month to discuss improvements in the efficiency and the promotion of banking.

The library monitors are appointed at the beginning of each term by Miss Thomas. Two monitors are on duty in the library each hour. Their duties are to maintain order and to report those who are using the privilege to their study room teachers and the teachers who have given the assignments. This year as in the last year, admittance by passes was given only to those students who presented a statement of the work they were to do, which, of course, was signed by the teacher of the subject. No student was allowed to work in the library more than three times a week at the same hour. Books could be taken out only before or after school.

Seniors and juniors who are desirous of obtaining the position of library monitor submit their names to Miss Thomas. She selects from these applications those who in her opinion and in that of their teachers are best qualified in character and personality. Because only a limited number can be accommodated in the library, it is important that the library be used as a reference room rather than as a study room. The library monitors coöperate with Mrs. Brice and Miss Nordholm to keep the library quiet, so that everyone may study.

The Girls' Club, the largest girls' club organization in the school, has a membership of three hundred girls. It was founded in 1916 as a social club. The club was primarily organized to better school friendships and to help those less fortunate. The Big Sister party, held at the beginning of each semester to welcome the new girls to Central, has become a traditional event. The fall party featured the interview of Patty Berg, golf champion. The program for the Christmas assembly was arranged by the Girls' Club. A play entitled "Christmas Eve," a toe dance by Betty Munger, and a song by Gail Brancel constituted the program. At the fall election Donna Hogan was elected president; Rosemary Martin, vice-president; Mildred Sandberg, secretary, and Gayle McWaters, treasurer.

The Big Sister party, held February 27, featured the opening of the spring social activities of the Girls' Club. The program, arranged by Beverly Murtaugh, consisted of an introduction of the ten girls who had leaped to success in school life, and two dances by Dorothy Bruce and Vernice Dazzell respectively. The musical numbers were furnished by Marlis Griffin, Gail Brancel, and Velma Keefe. The mothers' tea, held May 14, offered a splendid opportunity to further acquaintance of the mothers of the club members with the faculty. The girls had the opportunity also to display their social graces on this occasion. The officers of the spring term were Gayle McWaters, president; Mildred Sandberg, vice-president; Dolly Staab, secretary, and Grace Putnam, treasurer.

The Farmers and Mechanics Savings Bank introduced school savings accounts in all schools in 1908. It was established to stimulate and encourage thrift habits. A cashier is chosen by each advisory group. Each cashier is a private cashier for twenty to thirty-five students. The cashiers for the sophomore advisories consist of Cleo Anderson, Albert Braithwaite, Georgine Collins, Eleanor Gibson, Dorothy Heesacker, Elwood Dudley, Carol Kuntz, Harriet La Belle, Harold Melahn, Florence Nelson, Phyllis Pearson, Florajean Brill, Nileen Steffan, Blakley Trafzer, Irma Peterson, Margaret Madigan, Martha Sparring, Doris Braun, Betty Werl, Phyllis Reuter, Kenneth Burns, Marion Haug, James Larson, Edward Stress, Betty Taylor, and Ray Ringwalt.

The C.C.C. officials are upperclassmen who have at least a "C" average and who are willing to devote a part of their time to keeping order in the school. A monitor stands at the head of each flight of stairs between periods to facilitate passing between classes and, especially at the beginning of the term, to help students who are unacquainted with the school to find their classrooms. These monitors also check for lockers which have been left unlocked and make weekly reports to the floor managers concerning lockers which are being used without locks. Monitors who have study during the fourth period have their posts in the lunchroom and in the halls so that classes which are in session during the lunch periods will not be disturbed.

To make known to others that Central has a Scandinavian department and to familiarize its members with the music and literature of Scandinavia is the double purpose of the Scandinavian chorus. This chorus was organized in January, 1935, and began with twenty-five members under the direction of Fred Krohn. Formerly the meetings were conducted in the basement of the Nazareth Lutheran Church, but this last year meetings have been conducted at the homes of various members. On February 19, the chorus sang at Woodman Hall in North Minneapolis on a program given by the Norwegian National League. A week later, on February 26, they sang at the Masonic Hall for the joint meeting of the Svithiod Order; on April 19 they sang at Norway Hall for the Sigym, Daughters of Norway, on their thirty-seventh anniversary.

The Latin Club was organized for the purpose of increasing the interest of Latin students in Roman life and to enable the pupils from the different classes to know each other better. Members must either be taking Latin or must have taken at least two years of Latin.

During the fall term Alice Liedloff was president, Judith Ornes was vice-president, Lois Erickson was secretary, Alton Tekse was treasurer, and Miss Harris was the adviser. The spring officers were Harold Wold, Betty Jane Linne, Harriet Patterson, and Ruth Jensen, president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively. Under the direction of Miss Conway, the spring adviser, the club sponsored its fifth annual St. Patrick's Day bow sale, from the proceeds of which the club made its contribution to the Ida V. Probett Scholarship Fund.

The Skylite Club this year has lived up to its aims of cultural, social, and school services. The various talks given and the sketching programs met with the approval of all the members. The club sponsored a candy sale during December, made greeting cards for Christmas, and one meeting was devoted to making gay Valentines. In the Comedy Concert the Skylite Skit was considered one of the high lights of the show. A most interesting meeting this spring was one in which our own green house plants were sketched. The club decorated novel wooden bowls, and during May they displayed their Spring Art Show, which was a very successful venture. The Skylite Club has increased in membership and has grown by its endeavor, with the aid of Miss Witter and Miss Turner, advisers.

Interesting talks on different aspects of nature are presented by the club members at the Botany Club meetings, held every second and fourth Wednesday of the month under the able leadership of Miss Bruce and Miss Edlund, faculty advisers. The program and the social hour are in harmony with the phase of nature the talk is centered upon. This club was organized primarily to conduct a more extensive study of nature and to better fellowship among the Botany students. The Botany Club has done much to promote the cause of the Ida V. Probett Scholarship Fund and the Community Fund.

The spring election marked the opening of the spring activities of the Botany Club. John Randolph was elected president; Myron Nickerson, vice-president; Bernie Miars, secretary; and Betty Ann McGinn, treasurer. One of the outstanding social events of the year was the Arctic party. Playing games such as "The Klondike Glide," "Testing the Atmosphere," and "The Penguin Parade" and a presentation of "Igloo Echoes" by Mary Norton and Phyllis Pearson constituted the principal part of the program. The club also contributed money at that time to the Community Fund. The second annual rose sale was held on Centralian Day.

LATIN CLUB

The Hi-Y is a club for "A" sophomore, junior, and senior boys. It is under the sponsorship and leadership of the Young Men's Christian Association. The purpose of the Hi-Y is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character." Meetings of the six Hi-Y chapters are held once a week at the home of one of the members. At these weekly meetings you will find discussion or a speaker on some interesting and vital question. Once each month the six Central chapters meet together at Central or some nearby church. These meetings were taken up with reports of club progress, a speaker, and group singing or a musical program. This year the Y.M.C.A. gave us two excellent "Y" secretaries in Don MacFarline and Al Jordan.

The Hi-Y Club at Central is divided into six chapters: Abbas, Gophers, Linx, Pioneers, Morpheus, and Sigmas. One of the many purposes of the club is to be of some service to the school. During the past year the Central Hi-Y Club has ushered at Commencement, printed score cards for football games, conducted Lenten services, and collected clothes for a worthy organization. On the recreational side of the Hi-Y program were baseball and basketball tournaments which added much interest and enthusiasm to the Hi-Y's active program. Faculty advisers for the six chapters were Mr. Rodgers, Mr. Pelto, Mr. Rohde, Mr. Hawker, Mr. Buresh, and Mr. Wolford. These men were a great help in making 1936 a successful Hi-Y year.

The French Club, one of the oldest clubs in the school, was organized in 1919, for the purpose of stimulating a desire among the pupils who are studying the French language to learn more about France, and also, to promote an interest in the French people, their language and literature. The club was named "Le Foyer," which signifies "The Hearth." The club has grown into a very large organization and is at present under the leadership of Mrs. Alice F. Drechsler, and Miss Margaret Holliday, Central's French teachers. The officers of the fall term were: President, Elaine Murphy; vice-president, Christ Andrews; secretary, Betty Lu Schoening; treasurer, Ruth Page Ladd.

"Le Foyer" is one of the most active clubs in the school, and all senior, junior, and sophomore girls and boys taking French are eligible. The club holds its meeting regularly on the third Wednesday of every month. At these meetings the programs are made worthwhile by scenes from various French plays, musical numbers, and interesting speakers. Every year the club undertakes some projects, the proceeds from which are given to the school to be used for the Ida V. Probett Fund. It also has charge of the International Good Will program on Peace Day, May 18. New officers are elected at the beginning of each semester. Those elected for the spring term were: President, Ruth Page Ladd; vice-president, Christ Andrews; secretary, Annetta Swallender; treasurer, Paul Durand.

The Mimes and Mummers Dramatic Club was organized in 1930 by a group of students with Miss Lorine Grosz as adviser. The chief purpose of the club is to further interest in drama. Each term students are admitted by tryouts. The capacity of the club is thirty members. Part of the activities during the fall term of 1935 consisted in preparations for the melodrama, "Little Nell," to be given for the Comedy Concert. The cast was as follows: Granny Perkins, Janet Moseley; Lolly Wilkins, Myra Hokanson; Vera Carelton, Elaine Murphy; Mr. Carelton, William Finnegan; Jack Logan, Michael Culhane; Hilton Hays, Christ Andrews; and "Little Nell," Virginia Beckstrom. The officers for the term were: Virginia Beckstrom, president; Adrian Bessesen, vice-president; Betty Ann McGinn, secretary; and Betty Ashenden, treasurer.

With twenty-nine members in the Mimes and Mummers during the spring term, much was accomplished. Each student was afforded the opportunity to participate in a dramatic production. Three plays were given, and each was coached and produced by an "A" senior girl. "Richman, Poorman," produced by Virginia Beckstrom, was given at the Centralian assembly. A matinee performance was given on the afternoon of May 13. The first play, "The Robbery," was directed by Betty Ann McGinn, while Joyce Johnson coached "Greasy Luck." Officers for the spring term were: Virginia Beckstrom, president; Douglas DuLac, vice-president; Mary DuLac, secretary; and William Finnegan, treasurer.

SOUNDINGS AND SIGNALS

The Debate Club, which meets the second and fourth Wednesday of each month, was organized to discuss subjects of interest to the students in open forum meetings. Any person who professes an interest in debate or general discussion on current topics is eligible for membership. The Debate Club participated in an all-city debate tournament at Roosevelt High School. Officers of the fall term were Mary Jane Furstnow, president; Bernie Miars, vice-president; Virginia Beckstrom, secretary; Eileen McBride, treasurer. Different members of the club have written debates for the column of discussion in the News. At the spring election Eileen McBride was chosen president; Bernie Miars, vice-president; Evangeline Boner, secretary; and Roberta Mowrey, treasurer. Miss Thorvilson and Mrs. Cook are the faculty advisers.

With the addition of many new members and a complete new constitution, the Scribblers' Forum was reorganized, with Miss Abigail O'Leary as adviser. At every other meeting new manuscripts were read, at the alternate meetings, the club enjoyed hearing artists who are connected with creative writing. Elizabeth Hart, former editor of the Quest, spoke at a meeting on March 16. A tea was given in her honor. The club also heard Miss LeSueur, noted short story writer, at one of its spring meetings. Officers of the club were: Betty Lu Schoening, president; Bernie Miars, vice-president; Dolly Staab, secretary; Lorraine Miller, treasurer. The object of the club is to promote interest in creative writing.

The fall stage crew was composed of Leslie Eversole, stage manager; Martin Anderson, electrician; Roland Hallquist, carpenter; Don Ferris, assistant electrician; Richard Patrick, projectionist; and Sherman Walgren, flyman. Throughout the spring term Don Ferris was stage manager, while Martin Anderson, Roland Hallquist, and Sherman Walgren again held the positions of electrician, carpenter, and flyman. In addition two new stage hands, Wilbur Morgan and Ernest Reece, joined the crew.

Through the coöperation of Maylon Hepp, faculty adviser, the stage crew was able to cope with the problems involved in the rehearsing and staging of two class plays, two commencements, two operas, the Comedy Concert, numerous assemblies, and routine practices of the band and orchestra as well as several shows given in the auditorium by organizations not connected with the school.

The Quill and Scroll, only international honor society at Central, was organized for outstanding staff members of various high school publications throughout the world in order to encourage literary pursuits among students. The chapter at Central was organized in 1928 for members of the publication staffs in the school. To enter the Quill and Scroll a student must submit a story or an article that he has written and had published. The applicant must also be recommended by the adviser. Nine students were admitted to the Central chapter this year. A national contest for various types of writing is conducted each year by the organization as a whole, and a periodical magazine is published at the headquarters in Chicago.

The Commercial Club, organized in 1924, is one of the largest clubs in Central. It was organized primarily to allow all the commercial students to become better acquainted with each other and to foster interest in commercial work. Anyone taking a commercial subject is eligible for membership. Meetings are held the first Wednesday of each month. To have a prominent business man or woman give a talk to the members about the business world is the plan adopted by the Commercial Club for its meetings. Every year a contribution is given by the club to the Ida V. Probett Scholarship Fund.

Members of the spring cabinet were Steven Koulogianes, Bernie Miars, Jeanne Ohlin, Eileen McBride, Phillip Johnson, Bob Hovda, and Eloise Hanson. The adviser for the fall semester was Miss Scott; for the spring, Miss Turnquist and Miss Carey were the sponsors. Through the coöperation of the club adviser, Miss Scott, and the club officers, the Commercial Club members attended many interesting meetings. The officers of the fall term were Helen Vezzoso, president; Phillip Johnson, vice-president; Bill Tweed, secretary; and Lorraine Nelson, treasurer. Giving baskets to the poor at Thanksgiving has been a traditional project of the Commercial Club. At the membership party which featured the opening of the social activities of the year, Mr. Nordby, a commercial teacher, gave an interesting talk on his trip to Alaska. A prominent business woman who spoke at one of the meetings was Genevieve Fordsall, an attorney.

One of the most popular social activities of the semester was the commercial party held in December. An interesting program, followed by dancing to the music of Janet Turner's orchestra, constituted the entertainment. Refreshments, which consisted of cookies and punch, were served afterwards in the teachers' lunchroom. An interesting talk on the Veterans' Hospital was given by Mr. William Lyons, the Personnel Director of the Veterans' Hospital. He extended a cordial invitation to the Commercial Club members to visit the hospital. Fifty members of the club accepted the invitation and enjoyed very much the tour with guide through the Veterans' Hospital.

The membership party held February 5 was under the management of the Master of Ceremonies, Bernie Miars. The program consisted of two soloists, Lorraine Kirchner and Elsie Broesamle, accompanied by Marles Griffin; a reading by Doris Butler; and two readings by Betty Munger. Musical entertainments by a quartet of girls from Miss Carey's classes consisting of Jane Burkhart, Marcella Kerger, Mary Louise Heusser, and Helen O'Connell; a duet by Marcella Kerger and Jane Burkhart; and the speaker, H. L. Wenge, of the Sears and Roebuck Mail Order House, constituted the program for the March meeting.

The Commercial Club was represented in the Comedy Concert by Ruth, Kathryn, and Audrey Ladd, who presented a fascinating "stair" dance. An interesting talk by Mr. W. O. Johnson from the Personnel Department of the Northwestern National Bank, two songs by Marguerite Lundquist, two readings by Betty Munger, the presentation of "The Swedish Minister," by Warren Hultgren, and two songs by a quartet concluded another program. At the May day party on May 6 a tea was given as a farewell to the seniors. Officers of the spring semester were Eileen McBride, president; Phillip Johnson, vice-president; Eloise Hanson, secretary; and Bob Hovda, treasurer.

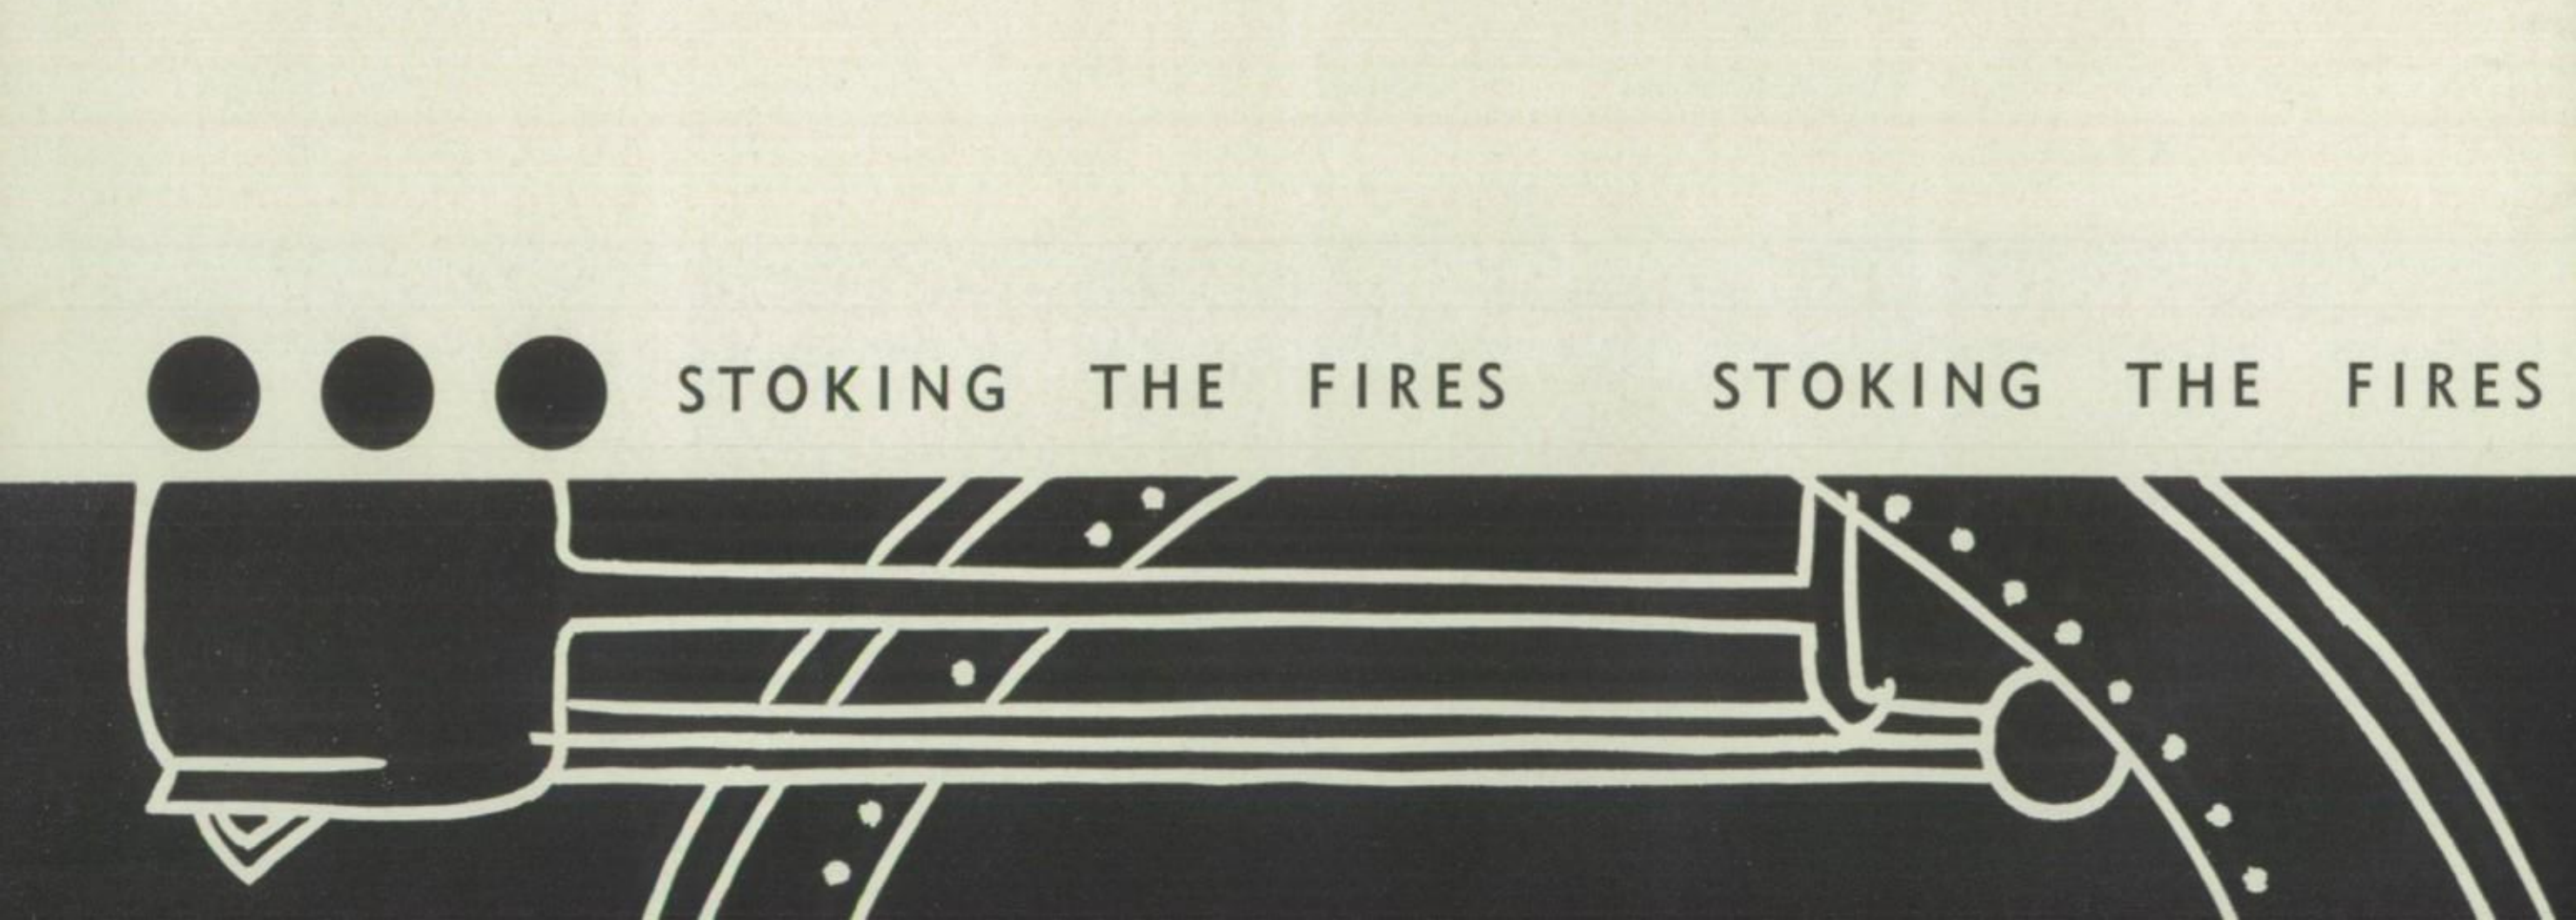
STOKING THE FIRES STOKING THE FIRES



In the process of moulding strong characters and in building well rounded personalities the administration of Central High School has not overlooked the fact that a sound body as well as a sound mind are equally important in the attainment of success. The well conducted gym classes and the efficient athletic teams organized from among the students are all outstanding examples of the very great benefits that are being derived from the present physical education program.

In charge of stoking the athletic fires at Central is Joseph H. Markley, athletic director. He is coach of the football and the baseball squads in addition to conducting the gymnasium classes. Mr. Markley assumed his post as director in 1923, and in his years at Central has coached several championship teams in football. At high school in St. Cloud and at Carleton College he was a star football player. Although light in weight, he played regular fullback on the championship Carleton grid team.

Weston W. Mitchell is the oldest of the coaches at Central in years of athletic service to the school. He has coached pioneer teams in football, basketball, and track for 18 years. At present he is coach of basketball, in addition to his regular duties as teacher of architectural and mechanical drawing.

As assistant in the athletic department, Edmund G. Weber performs many duties. He directs swimming, tennis, and scrub football and also conducts several of the boys' gym classes.

Coach of the track squad is William G. Hawker, pole-vault record-holder while in college. In addition to his athletic work, Mr. Hawker is a regular instructor of social sciences.

Directors of girls' sports are Miss Eugenia Ziemer and Claire Bell. All students are required to enroll in the gymnasium classes during their sophomore and junior years. Under their energetic supervision enthusiastic classes carry on all kinds of healthful activities. With the earliest spring days the girls' baseball teams begin play at 7:30 in the morning—and through fall and winter contests are carried on long after three o'clock.

Led by Captain Arnie Johnson, the Central football squad opened the 1935 grid season with a practice game versus St. Cloud Technical High. The Pioneers journeyed to the Granite City to play their first game of night football and showed their potential power in an 18 to 6 victory over the Tech gridders. Central's first opponent of the city high school league was West, traditional rivals of the Red and Blue. Both teams displayed their weaknesses in a hard-fought battle, with the Pioneers finally coming out on top by the count of 12 to 0. In the first game of the year played on the Pioneers' home field, an erratic Washburn aggregation held the Red and Blue to a six-point deadlock. The Millers were unable to make any appreciable gain through the Central line.

The next week the Pioneers journeyed to Edison High, where they defeated the Tommies 19 to 0. Don Underwood, Central halfback, was responsible for two of the three touchdowns. The last half of the game featured a steady seventy-yard drive by the Markleymen, resulting in four first downs with Wally DeShane, fullback, and Don Underwood playing key roles. Underwood scored again in the final quarter after another drive by the Pioneers in which Dick Beard, halfback, was instrumental. Continuing in their winning ways, the Central eleven marched over the North High Polars to the tune of 14 to 0. Don Underwood, Wally DeShane, and Dick Beard all repeated their outstanding performances of the previous week. Another star in the person of Dick Raiter, diminutive halfback, made his appearance for the first time on the Central field.

Opening the final three weeks of the season, Central defeated the Marshall squad by the margin of 7 to 0. Though badly outweighed by the Cardinals, the Markleymen outgained the former by over one hundred yards. The only tally of the game was scored by Wally DeShane when he caught an aerial fumble dropped by the Cards and ran eighteen yards for the touchdown. With the prospects of a title in sight, the Red and Blue went on to down the South High Tigers, 6 to 0, on a soft and slippery field. The game resolved into a punting contest after both teams found it unprofitable to attempt any long running, passing, or trick plays because of the cold and wet weather. Leighton Polland, reserve halfback, made the only touchdown of the game with a spinner play.

Coach Joe Markley's charges lost the final game of the season, and with it the city championship, to the massive Roosevelt gridders by a score of 12 to 6. The Pioneers gave way under the overwhelming weight of the invaders. The game was the high-point of the Red and Blue homecoming celebration, and had the Pioneers tied or defeated the Teddies the title would have passed to Central. The Teddies passed their way to victory after battering the Central line with successive plunges. The Markleymen relied upon speed to score against Roosevelt, but the runners were checked completely during the second half of the game. The most spectacular run of the contest resulted in the only Pioneer tally. Don Underwood received a punt on the Central 10-yard line and returned it ninety yards for a touchdown.

FOOTBALL RECORD

Under the guidance of Coach Joseph Markley, ably assisted by Weston W. Mitchell, backfield coach, the Pioneer football squad developed into another title-contending team. Only three veterans returned from the previous year, but the gridders finished the race in second place. The Markleymen won five games, tied one, and lost only one. Though the team was severely handicapped by lack of weight, they relied on their speed and agility in eluding opponents. With Don Underwood, halfback, carrying the ball through holes opened in the opposing line by Bob Halverson, Neil Kidwell, Arnie Johnson, and Orville Freeman, Central counted many a score. Along with the Pioneers' speed on offense came their defensive ability in breaking through the opposing blockers and stopping plays. Bill Small, veteran end, and Wally DeShane, fullback, both showed speed in blocking and covering kicks. Only eighteen points were scored against the Red and Blue during the course of the season, while the Pioneers netted a total of seventy tallies. The Pioneers succeeded in making twenty more first downs than their opponents during the season. Captain Arnie Johnson, Bob Halverson, Bill Small, and Don Underwood are all-city stars.

BASKETBALL RECORD

Again Coach Weston W. Mitchell produced a speedy and dangerous basketball quint, characteristic of Central teams. Though lacking in weight and size, the cagers made themselves conspicuous in the league by finishing in a tie for second place. From the first of the season the cagers showed the determination and fight responsible for their high standing. The team was composed almost entirely of juniors with a year of experience and a season of competition yet to come. Rodney Loft, captain and only senior on the team, was judged unanimously as an outstanding player by the city high school coaches. His speedy floor work and accurate shooting eye were responsible for this honor. The high school teams were rated as the best and the most interesting that the league has produced for several years, and with most of the outstanding players returning next season the prospects of another strong season are bright. Coach Mitchell prophesied that the team would be interesting to watch. This statement was fulfilled with such stars as Rodney Loft, Dick Raiter, Lawrence Peterson, Bob Grono, John Strate, and Wally DeShane on the floor.

In the Central cagers' first tilt of the season they were defeated by Austin, former state champions, 20 to 17. Opening the city league contests, the Pioneers met and downed a scrappy Roosevelt team by a score of 29 to 17. The following week the Red and Blue aggregation fell before an aggressive South quint, 31 to 24. Recovering from the defeat, the basketeers defeated West, 36 to 28, and downed Marshall, 30 to 27, a week later. The Pioneers experienced another loss at the hands of Washburn to the tune of 30 to 24. A strong attack swept the North quint to defeat, 22 to 19, the following week. The final in the city contest found Central suffering a 26 to 16 defeat by the championship Edison team.

It was only last year that baseball was reinstated at Central, but since then it has aroused the interest of the students and has proved to be a popular sport. The team under the able instruction of Joseph Markley was slightly hampered by a late start as a result of the poor weather. Several lettermen from last year formed the nucleus of the 1936 team. James O'Rourke, second baseman; Dick Raiter, fielder, Bob Grono, fielder; Ed Herman, shortstop; and Dick Beard, fielder or pitcher, were the veterans. The pitching staff proved to be Coach Markley's chief worry. Approximately fifty boys signed up for the squad when Coach Markley issued the first call for those who wished to try out.

The Central swimming team, coached by Edmund G. Weber, finished another successful season with only two defeats chalked against them. The tankers were rated as third in the league with five victories to their credit. The finmen improved steadily as the season progressed. The two losses came early in the season, and as the competition progressed, the team gave a strong exhibition of their skill. Bob Bouchier, star backstroker, captained the team until he was graduated in mid-season. Neil Kidwell then took over the helm with much success. Loss of Fay Root, veteran breaststroker, at the opening of the season deprived the team of a star performer. Bob Bouchier, Neil Kidwell, Bob Boran, and Don Crippen all gave creditable performances.

Only four lettermen returned to the Red and Blue track squad for the 1936 spring season, but Coach William G. Hawker built up a team that took third place in the finals of the Metropolitan track meet. Central lost most of its outstanding men last year, but the reserves of last year and the new material shaped into a strong team. The Pioneers qualified seven men for the finals of the Metropolitan meet which was won by Washburn High. The Central cinder squad furnished tough competition for any team concerned. Neil Kidwell, 220-yard; Bill Small, 220-yard; Orville Freeman, 440-yard; Lawrence Peterson, 880-yard; and Jim Butler, shot-put, all did their full share of point earning.

Tennis has been a successful sport at Central for the past few years with the netmen taking the city title for three consecutive seasons. Coach Edmund Weber suffered no dearth of likely material when five lettermen returned to the squad for the spring tournaments. Rodney Loft, Neil Kidwell, and Arzy Kunz are all title holders in the city and state meets.

The team participated in the Carleton College invitational meet conducted at Northfield on May 9 in addition to taking part in the regular high school competition. The school tournament at Central last April drew a large field of aspirants. The five lettermen who returned to the squad this spring were Rodney Loft, Neil Kidwell, Arzy Kunz, Paul Ford, and Edward VonSien.

Under the direction of Coach Charles T. Addington, golf is increasing in popularity as a competitive sport at Central. A good turnout for the annual school tournament put plenty of material at the disposal of Coach Addington. The final eight-man team was determined by the elimination tourney. A late start as a result of poor weather slightly hampered the golfers, but they were soon in form for the spring competition. Several members of the 1935 squad returned this spring, giving the team a seasoned appearance. Each of the schools placed an eight-man team in the preliminary rounds of the city tournament which took place early in May. Four men from each school were eliminated in the preliminaries, the remaining contestants playing in the finals.

Central's school spirit has definitely been on the upgrade for the past few years. Last fall the football team met with much enthusiastic support from the students both during the pep assemblies and out on the field. Central was fortunate in having a strong and peppy cheer leading staff composed of Lewis Kravetz, George Kenney, and Bob Bunker.

Leading the cheering at the football and basketball games the boys met with much success both in volume and coöperation. Tryouts were conducted for the purpose of choosing the cheer leaders from a fairly large field. Several novelty stunts were presented by the three leaders at the various pep assemblies presented before the Central football games.

Since athletics play an important part in the curriculum of the modern day school, it is only fitting that those who excel in this branch of education should be recognized. Central's "C" Club, headed by Arnold Johnson, is an honorary organization for athletes who have won letters in various organized sports. The club is important in the activities of the school. An annual dance and the Bernard Bailey Memorial Basketball Tournament are activities regularly conducted by the organization. The Bailey Tournament, featuring teams of different nationalities, was an outstanding success this year and met with the hearty support of the students. The officers of the club, in addition to Arnie Johnson, president, are Neil Kidwell, vice-president, and Orville Freeman, secretary-treasurer.

All girls interested in sports are welcomed into the Girls' Athletic Association. The aim of the G.A.A. is to create a greater interest for athletics among the girls, good sportsmanship, and good health. The G.A.A. board is composed of the officers of the club and fifteen chairmen of various sports. They meet once a week in the trophy room to discuss the progress of the tournaments and plan for social functions of the club. The officers of the club are elected but the chairmen are chosen by the preceding board. The officers for the fall term were Dorothy St. John, president; Jeanne Colucci, vice-president; Jean Courtney, secretary. In the January election Ethel Kerns was chosen to succeed Dorothy St. John as president.

The change of the letter award system last year reduced the usual number of emblem and "C" winners. This year only nine city-wide emblem winners and fifteen "C" winners were added to the group who have previously received these honors. To be awarded an emblem a girl must be a member of the G.A.A. and earn 1,500 points in athletics. The requirements for the "C" are the same except that only 1,000 points are necessary. This must be done by participating in sports such as basketball, tennis, volleyball, field hockey, speedball, and others. Points are also given for refereeing. However, the scholastic side must also be considered. A "C" average in scholarship is required for a "C" and at least one "B" for an emblem. Girls must check their report cards in the gym office to be eligible for their awards.

Regardless of the weather conditions the early fall mornings found ninety-five girls out on the athletic fields to participate in the speedball tournament. The group was composed mainly of sophomores as the advanced girls are allowed to play in only one speedball tournament so as to leave the sport open to the new girls at Central. The advanced are entered in the field hockey tournament. Nine teams participated, of which the Rogues, led by Elizabeth Conard, were victorious. The girls had to attend five practices to be eligible and participate in six games to receive one hundred points. Seventy-five of them met these requirements. Thirteen of the others participated in three games to receive fifty points. The tournament was carried on under the guidance of Marcia Rehl, chairman.

Ninety-four girls turned out for the spring diamondball tournament which took place on the athletic fields in the early mornings. The girls were allowed to divide into nine teams with ten girls on each. The requirements were to attend three morning practices and play eight games for one hundred points. Those who played only five games received fifty points. The Chain Gang came through with flying colors to win the tournament. The captain of the victors was Ethel Kerns. The championship game was hard fought with the Doilies, led by Ellen White, ending it with a very close score. The chairman of the morning diamondball was Grace Putnam, while the afternoon games were in charge of Maxine Ormand.

Four divisions made up the basketball tournament this year, the advanced, the intermediate and two groups of beginners. Only five games were scheduled in each division and to earn one hundred points required participating in all of them. Playing in at least three games entitled a girl to fifty points. In the advanced division the Smoothies were victors after an exciting championship game against the Chain Gang which ended in the close score of 13 to 11. The Whirlwinds in the intermediate division were champions. However, they lost to the Smoothies by a score of 18 to 14, making the Smoothies champions of both divisions. The beginners' division championship was determined by a game between the Question Marks and Wheaties in which the Question Marks were victorious by a score of 18 to 8.

Field hockey, an international game played by both men and women, is a very popular sport among the girls of Central High. Nothing but rain interrupted the field hockey tournament last fall. Every Monday and Wednesday morning before school forty girls could be seen playing field hockey on the athletic field. Dorothy Ahern was in charge of the tournament. One hundred points were gained by playing six games. Playing four games allowed a girl fifty points. Thirty-one girls earned one hundred points, and two earned fifty. The Chain Gang, led by their captain, Ethel Kerns, were the victors of the tournament, winning five out of six games. The championship game was played against the Smoothies who proved to be good competitors. Jeanne Colucci was captain of the losing team.

B-r-r-r! The early winter blasts this year brought the fall tennis tournament to an early finish. The doubles tournament was not completed because of the cold. However, the singles tournament was brought to a close with Avis Russ as victor for the fifth consecutive time. Thirteen girls participated in the tournament under the guidance of Avis Russ. The girls had to win at least five matches to receive one hundred points. Those who won at least three were awarded fifty points. A default did not count as a match. Only five of the participants were able to acquire one hundred points but the remaining eight received fifty. The championship match was played on a bitter cold day at the Powderhorn court between Avis Russ and Ethel Kerns. The final scores were 6-2 and 7-5.

A record was broken this spring when two hundred and fifty-three girls turned out for volleyball. They were divided into two divisions, fifteen beginner teams and thirteen advanced teams. The teams were eliminated until at last only five remained eligible for the championship. In the final elimination the Wheaties were victorious over the Muskrats, but were then beaten by the Rogues in a very close game, ending 15 to 12. Meanwhile the Central Streaks outplayed the Clyx 23 to 9. The championship game between the Central Streaks and the Rogues was a very good one, although the final score was 29 to 8 in favor of the Central Streaks. Volleyball gained the interest of the boys also. Every day after school and during the sixth period on Fridays, a group of boys would join the girls in practice before the games were called.

"Never again" seemed to be the general theme of the girls' hiking group last fall as they wearily trudged homeward after long hikes. Yet two days a week found one hundred and fifty girls out once again. Hiking has always been a favorite sport among the girls at Central. It has been a part of the G.A.A. work for many years. Although it takes much more time than any of the other sports it is still a very popular one with the girls. Twice a year, once in the early fall and once in the spring, girls may obtain points this way.

Usually there were ten hikes scheduled and to be eligible for one hundred points a girl had to go on eight of them. If she went on at least five of them, however, she obtained fifty points. The total distance covered usually averaged five miles. The hikes which were taken last fall were to the following places: Park Avenue and Fiftieth Street, Calhoun Main Beach, Calhoun Thomas Beach, Third Avenue and Grant Street, Thirty-fourth Street and Hiawatha, Bloomington Avenue and Minnehaha. The chairman of this large group was Margaret Cloonan. The girls had to sign up before leaving the school building and check off upon reaching their destination.

Because of the uncertain weather conditions the girls were many times unfortunately caught in an unexpected rainstorm. Many of them will always remember the rainstorm which overtook them on the way to the Main Beach at Calhoun last fall. Fortunately it wasn't a very large group that went on that hike. The hike which the girls enjoyed the least seemed to be the one to Thirty-fourth Street and Hiawatha Avenue. The route was straight across Thirty-fourth Street and very monotonous. This was the hike most of the girls chose to omit. Despite all the difficulties, one hundred and fourteen girls earned one hundred points, and seventeen earned fifty.

Skating proved to be one of the most popular sports among the girls this winter. One hundred and eleven girls turned out as compared to the fifteen of last year. Those participating were required to skate sixteen times around the rink for one evening and do this eight different evenings. This could be done only on Tuesdays and Thursdays of the week. As this is not a competitive sport, only fifty points are given to those who complete their requirements. Seventy girls earned points.
